

UOIT students will transition to Google Apps – Tuesday, October 9, 2012

On Tuesday, October 9, 2012, the University of Ontario Institute of Technology will introduce a new email service, powered by Google Apps, to the UOIT student community.

Google Apps is a package of web applications that offers advantages over our current environment, including email with 25 GB of storage, shared calendars, online documents, website creation tools and more. The new student email service and product suite has been branded as UOITnet.

More information about Google Apps for Education at UOIT can be found at www.uoit.ca/googleapps.
